

PATRICK BOXALL

Patrick Boxall is Vice President & COO of KRA Corporation, a national leader in workforce development services. KRA is headquartered in Howard County, Maryland, and operates One-Stop/American Job Center sites and stand-alone workforce services programs in Maryland and five other states, and the District of Columbia.

With 25 years' experience in community, economic, and workforce development, Mr. Boxall oversees the day-to-day operations of all KRA business units, engaging in strategic planning, deploying corporate resources, and implementing company-wide performance standards.

Mr. Boxall joined KRA in 1997 as a Senior Research Analyst, managing projects for the U.S. Department of Labor and other public-sector clients focused on improving program-performance outcomes through research, training, and technical assistance. Prior to KRA, he worked for the Urban Institute, a D.C.-based, non-partisan economic and social policy research organization.

Since 2008, Mr. Boxall has served as a member of the Board of Directors for the Howard County Autism Society, whose mission is to educate, support, and advocate for individuals on the autism spectrum, their families, and the community-at-large. Mr. Boxall also sits on the Howard County Transition Council for Youth with Disabilities, which is charged with improving outcomes for students with disabilities as they transition to adult services, postsecondary education, and employment.

Mr. Boxall earned an MA from the University of Toronto, and a BA, summa cum laude, from the University of Delaware.

Mr. Boxall lives with his wife, Lisa, and three sons in Glenelg, Maryland.