Hi Deb and staff...

...from Anne Rouleau, Town Center, District 4.

First, thank you for all you do! Second, a gentle note that I worked for your campaign in the last election and am a friend-neighbor of Lynn Foehrkolb. I hope this may help elicit a response this time. I certainly realize your hands are full with many legislative and community issues. But some months ago, I wrote of my concern about building a new library on Lake Kit: It is a great expense; parking problems/traffic congestion are likely; and finally, the current library is serving the community well. I think I recall you asking for feedback at that time.

The purpose of my note today: I hope to learn where the library budget currently stands and your position on it. I also am interested in the developer/construction company that would/will financially benefit from a new library build.

Related to the proceeding is that I think the continued rise in property tax is approaching the breaking point for many of us.

Thank you!

Anne

Much as I like the idea of the library overlooking the Lake, I'm afraid the parking there would be horrendous. Although much less glamorous, I think using the Lord and Taylor store, with that big empty garage , makes much more sense.

It would draw more people to the Mall, and provide more walk-in library visitors from people in the mall as well. Plus there is the footbridge connecting to the lakefront. It just seems to make more sense.

apparently so , the following is thewelcome page on every computer in Cental Libray:

We thank County Executive Calvin Ball and the County Council for unanimously approving funds in support of the Lakefront Library. We look forward to partnering with them, the community developer and other stakeholders, as well as further engaging community to bring this to reality for all of Howard County. We look forward to hearing more from our residents as we collaborate to create the best spaces and learning experiences for our community.

Paul Verchinski, I thought that there was a study underway for the Library location?
