

Jason Peay President/CEO

Professional Summary

Mr. Peay Founded VersaTech on June 29, 2005 and remains committed to solving customers' problems through innovative solutions. Mr. Peay envisioned and established a company that is marked by its continuous pursuit of excellence through superior information technology, engineering support, and healthcare research. Mr. Peay's background stemmed from a family of entrepreneurs and leaders that helped him catapult a small business from an IT firm to a world class provider of IT and healthcare services. His family has always built and conducted business in the Howard County area with a focus on Columbia. Jason's journey is marked by milestones that truly capture what makes him so prosperous. He has proven that hard work, dedication, and total focus pays off. After providing years of superior IT service to satisfied customers Jason decided to expand into the healthcare industry. In the fall of 2012 he successfully launched a healthcare division within the company. Engaging in activities that support the commitment to quality and community, Jason has been very instrumental in healthcare forums, and DOD symposiums. As he prides himself on the growth he has experienced as a small business there is still enormous potential in 2016. New clients are continually added and relationships are getting stronger and stronger.

While the company continued to expand and attract customers, Mr. Peay remained focused on his belief that VersaTech would achieve a competitive advantage. He emphasized three principles that continue to guide his company: 1) focus, 2) innovation, 3) solutions. These three principles helped create a company culture that flourishes internally and externally. Through the years we've celebrated our company's people, clients and the successes we've been fortunate to achieve. Mr. Peay knew his company could achieve his ideals through hard work and dedication.

Mr. Peay's business philosophy proved successful. VersaTech experienced dramatic growth in revenue, client satisfaction and employee prosperity in 2014 and 2015. Striving for continued success the company's customer-oriented values demonstrated the ability to work effectively with partners allowing VersaTech to ensure each client achieves their goals.

Mr. Peay is an active community member and mentors students at local HoCo high schools. He speaks at various events for organizations and schools providing guidance to professionals and students on success and personal fulfillment. His recent company motto became "Whatever it Takes". Jason believes that in life if you truly want something, you will do whatever it take to achieve it and maintain it. He is well balanced by his Wife Jessica and his two children Mason and Calab. 2016 is proving to be his best year in business.
